Dear Steve,

Thank you for your support of Project Angel Heart and its mission at Steve's Hotdog Eating Contest. Your donation of $1,650.00 helps to provide nutritious, home-delivered meals to men, women and children living with life-threatening illnesses.

In our economic times of increasingly high gas and food prices, we realize more than ever the enormous generosity of our donors and committed volunteers. Each week, 130 volunteers drive their own vehicles with their own gasoline in order to deliver nutritious, life-sustaining meals to the homes of our clients living life-threatening illnesses such as cancer, AIDS, end-stage renal disease, heart disease and multiple sclerosis, among many others.

Project Angel Heart continues to grow and we are continually amazed by the enduring bounty of our donors and volunteers. As we have all witnessed, food costs have dramatically increased over the past year. Flour and flour-based products like pasta has nearly doubled, dairy products up 50%, eggs up 30%, and produce up 5-20% all affecting our food budget.

Yet, despite the rising costs of food and fuel, Project Angel Heart's clients continue to receive high-quality, nutritionally modified meals without interruption. Because of you, our clients have their needs met regularly—with compassion and care. Thank you for your devotion to continuing our mission!

Gratefully,

Erin Pulling
Executive Director

*Thank you so much for your tremendous support Steve!
We're grateful for the contribution and great publicity!*

P.S. In an effort to be as economically efficient and environmentally conscious as possible, we are converting one of our annual printed newsletters to an electronic version. Please email Heather Kopas at hkopas@projectangelheart.org to be sure we have your email address on file so you will not miss the next issue of "Food for Thought".
